HOW THE DONATION PROCESS WORKS

1. Become a registered donor or enter the program at the time of death:
   a. You can become a registered donor by submitting the attached paperwork.
   b. Call the Genesis Legacy Foundation at the time of death at 877.288.4483.

2. In cases where an individual other than the donor is authorizing the donation, the state Uniform Anatomical Gift Act provides which individuals may make the gift, in the order specified. Please check with the Genesis Legacy Foundation in order to determine who the correct authorizing party is for your state.

3. Donor forms will be reviewed to make sure the donor is currently eligible. Please note that the Genesis Legacy Foundation may not be able to accept every willing donor, and may decline to accept a donor who does not meet the requirements for anatomical donations at the time of death. Please see our website for exclusion criteria.

4. Genesis coordinates transportation from the place of death to the Medical Education & Research Institute (MERI).

5. MERI receives and uses the donor for medical education and research.

6. Effective 01/01/20 Genesis will file for, and provide, one death certificate.

7. Genesis pays for the cost of cremation; cremated remains will be available in 6-12 months.

8. Ashes can be returned to the family or interred in a mausoleum in the Memphis, TN area.

9. Family will receive a research letter detailing how the donor helped to further education and research.

The Genesis Legacy Whole Body Donation Foundation is a program of the Medical Education & Research Institute (MERI).

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

FOR DONORS

Am I eligible for body donation? Most adults are able to make this gift. Please note that the Genesis Legacy Foundation accepts no responsibility for any anatomical gift until signed and witnessed donor forms have been received. It is suggested that donors have an alternative plan should they be ineligible at the time of death due to any medical conditions that would prevent them from being a “good teacher.”

Is the Genesis program available in my state? The Genesis Whole Body Donation Foundation program accepts donors whose death occurs in the following states: AL, AR, GA, KS, KY, LA, IL, IN, IA, MS, MO, NC, OH, OK, SC, TN, TX and WV.

How can I register for the Genesis program? Register by filling out the Genesis Donor forms; once received, we will reply by mail and include several donor cards. Donors who are not registered may be accepted at the time of death if they meet current donor criteria. A legal authorizing party may complete paperwork. Based upon exclusion criteria (see website), ALL donor final acceptance (registered or at death) is determined at the time of death.

Can a person be an organ donor and a Genesis donor? Yes, you may be an organ donor and a Genesis donor.

Can I request which type of research I would like my body donation to benefit? MERI conducts programs in all areas of medicine based on the needs of the sponsors thus we are not able to specify the area of research. As a Genesis donor you can be assured your gift will be part of critical, life-saving training, education, and research that will greatly affect lives throughout the world.

What will happen to my personal effects? Any jewelry or other personal effects should be claimed by the next of kin prior to transport to the program. We will not be responsible for any unclaimed personal effects including, but not limited to, jewelry, medical devices/implants, dentition, etc. All clothing will be discarded.

FOR FAMILIES

How soon after death should the Genesis program be contacted? Immediately. It is imperative that Genesis be notified immediately so that proper care may be given to your loved one. See reverse for 24-hour contact information.

Who is responsible for transporting the donor to Genesis? Upon notification of death and after Genesis staff have completed screening to confirm acceptance, arrangements will be made by Genesis for transportation of your loved one. You will not have to make any transportation arrangements.

How and when will I receive the death certificates? Effective 01/01/20 Genesis will file for, and provide, one death certificate. We will forward the certificate to you once we receive it. It generally takes four to six weeks for Genesis to receive the death certificate.

How long will the donor stay at the MERI? Donors remain at the MERI from six months to a year.

What happens during the donor's stay at the MERI? Donors to the Genesis Legacy Foundation participate in programs that enable the critical work of the MERI, including but not limited to the latest surgical techniques and life-saving skills training. This participation may involve dissection and/or anatomical disarticulation or segmentation (e.g. removal of extremities), preservation, photography/imaging, and/or distribution to MERI-approved entities, both for profit and not for profit, for research and educational projects. All donors are treated with the utmost dignity and respect.

What happens when the studies on the donor have been completed? Genesis sends a letter detailing the research the donor has made possible. The Genesis staff arranges to have the donor cremated at no cost to the family.

Will whole body donation impact my ability to have a funeral? Since the donor must be transported to Genesis so soon after death, whole body donation will prohibit a traditional open casket funeral. Many families choose to have a memorial service either prior to or after receiving their loved one’s ashes.

Is it possible to have the donor’s cremated remains returned? Absolutely. Upon cremation, the remains may be returned to the person designated by the donor. The cremated remains may not include all of the tissues that have been recovered for medical education and research purposes and these may be appropriately medically incinerated. If there is not a designee appointed at the time of death by the donor or by the legal authorizing party, the donor’s cremated remains will be interred in a mausoleum in the Memphis, TN area. If a legal authorizing party/family member requests the cremated remains after that time, the remains will be removed from the mausoleum and returned to the legal authorizing party/family member.

In order to provide the most authentic training experience possible, the MERI cannot accept donors who have been embalmed. SPECIAL PROJECTS (optional)

Anatomic gifts to the MERI are used for the advancement of clinical research and hands on medical training. MERI's Academic Review Board reviews each curriculum to determine its appropriateness for our anatomic donors. From time to time, a request is made to approve the involvement of MERI anatomic donors in special courses and research projects which will lead to improved knowledge, discovery or care in the fields of battlefield medicine, forensic pathology, crime scene investigation, fire investigation, accident safety and other vital scientific endeavors. Only anatomic donors who have an additional special projects gift consent on file will be considered for these special projects. Because the donor's body will be subjected to more extreme conditions that are likely to result in damage and destruction of all or a large part of the body, and are different in nature, extent and duration from the majority of educational and research uses, donor participation in these projects is voluntary and requires a separate detailed authorization.

One example of such a special project is the Fire Investigation course that is used for educating Fire & Arson investigators, Sheriff's Officers, Police, Prosecutors, Emergency Responders, Coroners, Medical Examiners, and Death Investigators. The courses educate professionals how to properly investigate fire fatalities and helps them determine whether or not the death is a result of a crime or an accident. The training exercises recreate a fire scene (vehicle/house) so that investigators can accurately identify the true cause of death in what survives of the body to reveal vital information if a crime has been committed and give clues to what really happened to the victim(s) hopefully leading to justice and the perpetrator and allowing further such crimes and fatalities to be prevented.

These highly specialized courses involve purposeful damage and partial or complete destruction of the body. But without this type of donation, it would be difficult for this knowledge to be taught and new discoveries to be made. Any donor remains would be cremated and returned to the family or interred as requested by the donor/authorizing party. If you give permission for your body to be used for the advancement of scientific endeavors such as fire investigation, battlefield medicine, forensic pathology, or crime investigation please include your signature and date on this form. Thank you for considering this special project participation opportunity.

Your signature below authorizes the use of donor's body in a Special Project, including but not limited to the projects described above.
